

CHATS BY THE WAY

David E. Burns, Assistant Prosecuting Attorney,

HAS HEWED HIS OWN WAY

Bose From Forward Environment.
Little Interviews With Men
About Town and Others.

Assistant Prosecuting Attorney David E. Burns is one of the energetic young attorneys of the city. Though but one year from the university, he has developed a remarkable aptitude as a trial lawyer, and is not afraid to meet the best criminal lawyers in the city in a fair fight. Mr. Burns was born in Coldwater, Mich., in 1869, and is therefore 24 years old. His father was a Methodist minister and one of the founders of the Methodist Episcopal conference of the state. Mr. Burns was educated in the public schools at Coldwater until 17 years of age, when his father died, leaving his family, as Methodist ministers often do without a large stock of this world's goods.

From that time he has worked his life-like figures on tapestry, the work of Amanda Voigt, and a copy of a painting by Cot in the Metropolitan Art museum. The versatility and industry of Miss Voigt were further shown in her figure painting on China in Watteau designs. We understand that both her tapestry and China painting are to appear at the world's fair in the women's exhibit at the Illinois building—Knoxville Palais.

He Cares for the Children.

George W. Thompson is sticking to the common council because bicycle riders wheel along his sidewalk. George says there are twenty children to the square rod in his neighborhood and he feels that he should exercise a fatherly care over them. He is afraid some enterprising boy may run over some of the little fliers. Mr. Thompson asks that bicycle riders be prohibited from using the sidewalk on his street. The question will be discussed in the council tomorrow night.

BUILT FOR HOME DEFENSES.

The New War Ship Massachusetts Not Distinguished for Great Speed.

The speed of the Massachusetts is not so great as that of most foreign battle ships of recent build. This is not regarded by the Boston Transcript as such a serious fault, though, as might be imagined at first. The law of congress authorizing the construction of the Massachusetts, Indiana and Oregon called for "coast-line battle ships," carrying the heaviest armament and armor possible on a given displacement. It was recognized that the essential figures to the friends of the Indian in the happy hunting grounds. At this ceremony gifts are made to the poor of the tribe.

Household Decoration.

Pale pink dotted Swiss stream with a pattern of tiny forget-me-nots and roses is made up over a satin covered background, with extra fullness at the corners. Note that the muslin ruffles will fall out after the jolly manner of the bracelets on fashionable bodices. Rosettes and Tom Thumb buttons in pale pink, blue and olive green are sewed at the corners.

Some of the hand-sewn sofa cushions have large pieces of silk embroidery in the center, with corners in velvet edged with cord. Some are bordered with guipure embroidery, put on full over a trial of silk. Others are edged with broad tassel galon, and some have heavy ruches, but the principal part should be made in handsome brocaded silks of rich colors.

New toilet cushions are made of lace and muslin, covered all over with diagonal bands of narrow ribbon. Fans made of satin, studded and tufted, and another good form. An odd pin cushion is diamond-shaped, with frayed satin around the sides and baby ribbon rossets for trimming, while a piece of lace again forms the cover for the top.

Narrow lace for fancy work can be found in all colors. A very nice tidy can be made by using a wide piece of insertion of the pink lace, trimming it all around with the narrow edging.

A silver ball which opens is silk lined and holds a spool of knitting silk. When closed it hangs by a slender chain from things you tell me about?" asked the Coalman of the Saw.

"The same way I saw everything else," said the Saw, "with my teeth."

"I hear you called on the Refrigerator yesterday," said the Wood-tax to the Paul. "Well, you received pleasantly?"

"No. The Refrigerator treated me with great kindness," said the Paul.

"This house is beautiful upstairs," said the Furnace to the Poker. "The flames are going up there all the time, and they told me all about it."

"Oh, please stop poking me," said the Furnace. "Fire to the Poker. You tickle."

"I hear you are quite a sportsman," said the Snow Shovel to the Coal.

"Never handled a gun in my life," said the Coal.

"Why, I'm certain I overheard somebody saying that he'd seen the Coal chute," said the Snow Shovel. —Harper's Young People.

What Legal Tender Is.

While in the general post office the other day, my attention was attracted by a sharp looking youth who walked up quickly to the stamp window, and emptying a bag of coppers, asked the clerk, who was rather curt, for $5 worth of one-cent stamps.

"That's not a legal tender; it is all copper," snapped the clerk.

"What is a legal tender, then?" asked the boy.

"Why, one cent is a legal tender for a one-cent stamp."

"Oh!" exclaimed the youth. "is it? Come on, then," passing a coin from the hand. "Give me a one-cent stamp, please!"

The clerk gave him one.

"Another, please."

A second one was given.

"Ano—"

"Here, stop that," shouted the clerk. "Give me the money. It will be the shortest way to get rid of you."

After counting the money, he gave the value thereof in stamps to the lad, whom I heard mutter, "I thought I would tire him out."

Living in a Small Space.

This illustration shows how a small house, fifteen feet square, may shelter six persons comfortably. By the aid of folding beds, folding tables and folding chairs wonders may be accomplished.

A represents an upright folding bed; B are matted folding beds; the shelves on top are very useful, and clothes may be hung behind the bed. The dotted lines represent the beds when opened. The beds are closed in the day time and the curtains H and H all draw back. C are folding tables which may be put up at night. D are folding chairs.

E is a kitchen table with two shelves below for tinware and a cupboard above for food and dishes. A drawer in the table will hold knives, forks and spoons. F is a stand for two oil stoves with a shelf below for an oven. The oil cans may be set below the shelf. On chilly evenings the oven set over the oil stoves will warm the room. Charles Leonard of this city has invented a portable iron cottage in which all these comforts may be enjoyed.

Queer Indian Ceremony.

Miss Kate Foote spoke at the monthly meeting of the Hartford Indian association in the parlors of the Center church yesterday morning, says the Courant, and mentioned a number of interesting experiences she had among the Sioux and Sioux Indians tribes of Indians.

She gave a vivid description of the "burning of the eagle," one of the customs of the tribes. When the young eagles are nearly old enough to fly the tribe goes to the cliffs with ropes and ladders and one climbs a tree where there is a nest. After a battle with the old birds they capture a young one. Men are stationed in a line to the village, and when the eagle is caught the announcement is passed along the line, so those in the village hear of it at once. In the evening all the members of the tribe gather around a fire, and from 7 o'clock until the next morning they sing and dance. The eagle is killed by having its neck squeezed. The song sung reminded Miss Foote of "Nancy Lee." Later in the night the eagle is placed in a large basket and thrown on the fire. The fire is made to burn fierce; and over, and the eagle is burned so that it can carry away at night. G are folding chairs.

H is a cottage washstand with japanned ewer and basin. I is a kitchen table with two shelves below for tinware and a cupboard above for food and dishes. A drawer in the table will hold knives, forks and spoons. J is a stand for two oil stoves with a shelf below for an oven. The oil cans may be set below the shelf. On chilly evenings the oven set over the oil stoves will warm the room. Charles Leonard of this city has invented a portable iron cottage in which all these comforts may be enjoyed.

Overhead in the Cellar.

"This cellar is awfully damp," said the Bat trap. "I'm afraid I'll catch malaria."

"If you don't catch malaria any better than you catch rats, you needn't be afraid," said the Kindling Wood.

You seem to have a cold," said the Milk Pail to the Refrigerator.

"Yes, in my chest," said the Refrigerator.

I hate being locked up here in this dull place," said the Furnace.

"Oh, I don't think it's so bad," said the Fire.

"It's easy enough for you to talk," said the Furnace. "Fire can go out, but Phoenix can't."

"How did you happen to see all these atmospheres?
